"Svyato-Belopesotsky Nunnery"

- That's already 500 years there is a demure Svyato – Belopesotsky cloister, situated on the bank of the Oka river opposite Kashira town
- It was placed in the south border of Russia, it also was a fortress during invasion of the Crimean hordes, protecting a crossing through the river
- In the second half of 19 century the elegance of the monastery was set in order, through all important corrections
- In february of 1918 the monastery was officially closed

There was opened a glass factory, club, a pioneer camp

On the birthday of Svyto-Belopesotsky Nunnery - 29 November 1941 - the enemy was defeated under its walls

After the war, a part of buildings was destroyed, another part was as a warehouse

In autumn of 1998 Svyto-Belopesotsky Nunnery celebrated its 500 years old!
