THE FIRST VOYAGE.

Columbus conceived the resolution to sail from Palos through the information of the Portuguese monk, Juan Perez de Martell. His domestics gave him the title of Don, and named him in the rank of Grand Admiral of the Ocean Sea. He sailed Friday, August 3, 1492, with three small caravels, called the "Pinta," the "Niña," and the "Santa Maria," which were commanded by persons, accompanied, besides the crew and pilots, by soldiers and fire-arms.
