Oddities of the Students

The Primal Tradition

- “The Primal Scream” or “Halyava”.
- It’s an officially approved student tradition at the American Universities and Colleges.
- It appeared in the sixties at Harvard.
- The Primal Scream resounds at the end of a week (“Dead week” or “Hell week”) before exams on the night of Monday.

- Students of the Columbia University combine the Primal scream with Pillow Fight. It is everywhere in rooms, library (it works at 12 pm!), halls

Mortal Combat

- Making a rating of Universities according to the quantity of Nobelists, rich people among its former students. They also figure out who the best is, conducting sporting events such as Rugby, Rowing, Soccer

Georgetown University

● “Violence” against the freshmen at Georgetown University. The senior students made the first-year students to wear colourful caps, to greet the seniors, to sing the hymn at midnight. But all these humiliation disappeared after admission at the University female students.

TRICKS AT THE MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGE

- In the 1972 the students threw the piano off the roof of the college , to measure its acceleration. They'd repeated the experiment during 12 years until the administration stopped to put a piano in the hall.

- In 1994 the students carried a police car on the roof of their campus and lighted it up. Next day it was removed off and displayed in the museum of students tricks.

Great opportunity to get a kiss;)

- French kisses at Stanford University are the main part of Initiation into student society! Full moon in October is the time to get the spirit of alma mater . The freshmen have to kiss the female sophomores to become real students. It's big event and the faculty consider that the tradition consolidate the unity of their students!

The Nude Olympics

- First snow but warm weather, dances, drinks, great party among sophomores...Dress code? Yes, come undress and run around the University!

- All well-known universities had such traditions (“Naked run”, “Exotic Erotic Ball”, “Save John’s Ass”) till 2000 and then it’s almost disappeared because of Christian morality and venereal diseases.

Sororities

The male and female clubs or Greek system. The first fraternity was established in 1776 “Phi. Beta. Kappa.” Since those times a lot of frats&sors were organized. Usually it invites only rich and trendy students, it’s one of the steps to make good connections in society for future career.
