Failing success
under this pseudonym, Lizzy
realized that to
become a singer,

you need to have not only
a beautiful and strong voice, but also spectacular, memorable
appearance and name.

That's why plastic surgery is the paramount task for budding stars, like Lizzy

It has changed a lot: if the first studio album, which was released in 2010, was not noticed, but the output of the second - Born To Die - did not leave anybody untouched.

BORN TO DIE

Del Rey has stylized her musical sound as "Hollywood sadcore."

Lana Del Rey has been described as "a self-proclaimed gangster version of Nancy Sinatra" and her music has been featured cinematic sound and its links to various aspects of pop culture of the 1950s and 60s.

“ I was a big drinker at the time. I would drink every day. I would drink alone. I thought the whole concept was so fucking cool. A great deal of what I wrote on Born To Die is about these wilderness years. When I write about the thing that I've lost I feel like I'm writing about alcohol because that was the first love of my life. My parents were worried, I was worried. I knew it was a problem when I liked it more than I liked doing anything else. I was like, 'I'm fucked. I am totally fucked'. Like, at first it's fine and you think you have a dark side – it's exciting – and then you realise the dark side wins every time if you decide to indulge in it. It's also a completely different way of living when you know that...a different species of person. It was the worst thing that ever happened to me.”

Del Rey's left hand is tattooed with the letter "M", referencing her grandmother, Madeleine, and the word "paradise". Her right hand is tattooed with the phrase "trust no one". She also has the phrase "die young" tattooed on her right ring finger
