

A Biography of Ernest Hemingway

Who Is Ernest Hemingway?

- Born into a strict, Protestant family
- Famous and well accomplished author (49 short stories and over 10 novels)
- Nobel Peace Prize winner
- Avid hunter and fisher
- Considered a hero of WWI
- Committed suicide in Idaho (1961)
- Used the experiences of his life to create literary masterpieces during the Modernism Era

Hemingway's Personal Life

- Born Ernest Miller Hemingway on July 21st, 1899
- Grew up in Oak Park, Illinois – upper middle class
- Father was a doctor and mother was a singer
- He had four sisters and one brother
- The community had a large Protestant population
- Hemingway about his community: “Wide lawns and narrow minds.”(The Hemingway Resource Center)
- Enjoyed hunting and fishing (inspiration for many stories/novels) with his father when his mother wasn't introducing him to music and literature

Hemingway's Personal Life (cont.)

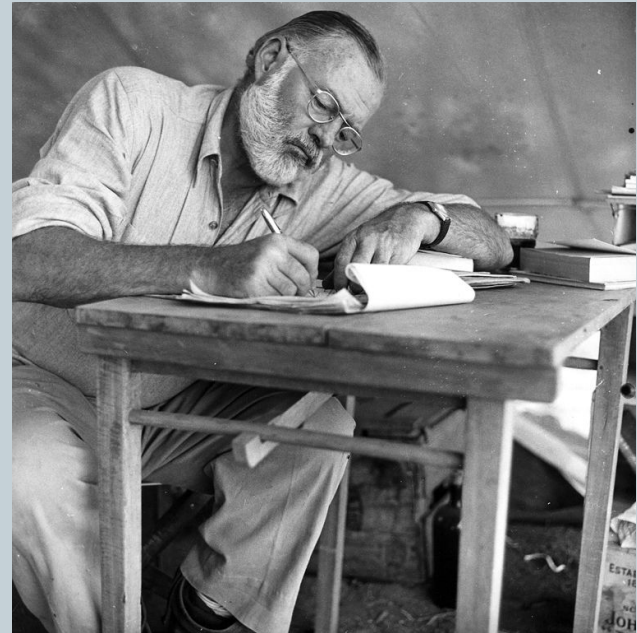

- Rumored that his mother often dressed him in female clothes
- Worked as a reporter for the Kansas City Star (1917)
- WWI Ambulance Driver (1918)
- Celebrated as a war hero upon his return home
- Reporter for Toronto Star (1920)
- Married Hadley Richardson and moved to Paris, France (1921)
- Father committed suicide in 1929, Ernest does the same in 1961 (Idaho)

Hemingway's Professional Life

- Wrote forty-nine short stories and published six best-selling novels:
- The Sun Also Rises
- A Farewell To Arms
- For Whom The Bell Tolls
- The Old Man and The Sea
- To Have and Have Not
- A Moveable Feast

Hemingway's Professional Life (cont.)

- Popular characters in his works: soldiers, hunters, bullfighters, and primitive people.
- Themes of his work: Courageous and honest people losing hope in a modern, hectic society
- Possibly reflects his own outlook concerning his place in the world
- His writing is very dry and descriptive with little plot – draws heavily from past experience
- His alcoholism and depression contributed to his eventual suicide
- He shot himself in Ketchum, Idaho (1961)

