● Ronaldinho born 21 March 1980 at the hospital são Lucas, Porto Alegre, state capital of Rio Grande do Sul, being the third child in the family. His mother, Dona Miguelina, worked as a clerk, and a trained nurse. His father, Joao da Silva Moreira, was a shipyard and caretaker of the Parking lot club "Gremio", and previously played for local Amateur team Cruzeiro. The father became the first coach Ronaldinho, teaching him the game of football, which he practiced on the streets of Vila Nova, where the family lived. In 1987, he began studying, going to College Alberto Torres de Vila Nova, but the love for football prevailed: Ronaldinho could play in it all day, and even when his friends were unable from fatigue to continue the game, he played ball with his dog Bonbon like in your yard and in the house.

- At the age of 7 years, Ronaldinho went to a football school Langendonck. Then he got his nickname, "Ronaldinho", which means "little Ronaldo", being the youngest among the players of the youngest team Gremio, where he had come. In 1988, when Ronaldinho was 8 years old, the father died of a heart attack while swimming in the family pool. When the elder brother of Ronaldinho, Roberto de Assis, has signed a contract with the club Gremio, the family moved to a more prestigious area of Porto Alegre, Guarujá. House in this place was a gift from Gremio to the family, to Roberto, who was leaving the team.

● Career Ronaldinho to Gremio began in 1995 with the youth team, where he under the guidance of head coach Liam Higgins spoke at the youth championship League Gaucho. In February 1997 he signed his first professional contract with the club. In the same year, after the world Cup for players up to 16 years in Egypt, where he scored two goals from a penalty kick, Ronaldinho was considered as the rising star of Brazilian football. At the same tournament Ronaldinho played with the name Ronaldo on the back

February 5, 2001, Ronaldinho signed a five-year contract with the French club "Paris Saint-Germain." Itself the Paris club paid for the transfer of the player €5 million Upon arrival in Paris, Ronaldinho received a t-shirt with the number 21 and was exposed to the attack line along with the striker Aloisio and Midfielders Mikel Arteta and Jay-Jay Okocha.
