Adverb-CONDITIONAL (I)

if/when – clause main clause

If you don't listen carefully, you won't understand.

When you ring her up she will be happy.

main clause if/when - clause

You won't understand if you don't listen carefully.

She will be happy when you ring her up.

Conditional sentences consist of two parts:

- if – clause (Present Simple) which begins with the word if/when, and the main clause (Future Simple) which shows the result.

If Robert studies hard,
he will pass his exam.

Which is the if-clause?

Which is the main clause?

What tense do we use in the if-clause?

What tense do we use in the main clause?

Is it possible that Robert will pass his exam?

If you don't leave early, you'll miss the match.

Find conditionals in this text (Sp.)

“If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings-nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you;
If all men count with you, but none too much,
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And-which is more-you'll be a Man, my son!”

-Rudyard Kipling
