

The education system in Russia

Выполнила: Беккер Анастасия 3
ФВТ

The education system in the Russian Federation - is...

- The education system in the Russian Federation is a complex of training programs regulated by state education standards, and implementing their educational networks, consisting of independent from each other institutions subordinated to the Supervisory and managing bodies.

The structure of the education system

Educational institution - the main link of system of education of the Russian Federation. Educational institutions conduct educational work under specially developed plans and regulations. Briefly the system of education in Russia is impossible to describe, because it is diverse and consists of different components. But they are complex, aimed at every educational level to carry out the sequential development of individual and professional quality indicators of personality.

1. General education

1

Preschool education

2

Primary education

3

Basic general education

4

Secondary general education

2. Professional education

1

Secondary vocational education

2

Higher education (bachelor's degree)

3

Higher education (specialist's, master's)

4

Higher education (training of highly qualified personnel)

- Today special attention is deserved by system of continuous education in Russia. On the one hand, this system serves as a reflection of the objective needs of society. On the other hand, with this system of training is the continuous updating of the knowledge base level, and obtaining special skills that are so essential in today's economy. You can also say that continuing education is a doctrine of constant improvement of human life and the development of his abilities.

Conclusion

As the main goal of management in this system should be considered a permanent development of creativity and human potential. And in the center of this system must be the man himself, his desires and, of course, the development of his abilities.