The State Russian Museum is the largest museum of Russian art in the world.

State Russian Museum

It is situated in Saint Petersburg in the Mikhailovsky Palace.

The main staircase of the Mikhailovsky Palace.

The original name of the museum was the Russian Museum of His Imperial Majesty Alexander III.

V. Serov. Alexander III.

The Russian Museum has several sections, including Russian and Soviet fine art, sculptures and graphics, folk arts and some others.

Among the variety of art works, there can be found the pictures of such well-known Russian artists, as Ivan Aivazovsky, Carl Bryullov, Isaak Levitan, Mikhail Vrubel, Viktor Vasnetsov, Vasily Surikov, and many others.

The museum has Old
Russian painting

Victor Vasnetsov. Three heroes

The Russian Museum houses a collection of Soviet paintings.

Petrov-Vodkin. Death of commissioner

In the permanent exhibition are works of Russian painting. This is my favourite picture of Karl Brulov.

Karl Bryullov. The last day of Pompei

Karl Bryullov was a russian artist of the 19th century.

He painted in the style of classicism

In the picture we see the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and the death of the ancient city of Pompeii.

Among the dying people Karl Bryullov portrayed himself with a box of paints.

The picture was a huge success with the audience.
