Russian national costume is a set of clothes, shoes and accessories that was used in everyday and festive use. Has noticeable characteristics depending on the gender (male and female), destination (holiday, wedding and casual) and age.

In traditional costume shirt was outerwear, and in a suit nobility — the bottom. House maid nobles wore a shirt — it was always silk.

Women over a white or red shirt with strapped sleeves embroidered wrists wore silks, with long sleeves and collar(necklace).
