England is the largest part of the UK.

England is the largest part of the UK.

Lake District in Northern England is a favourite holiday resort.

Here you can find deep valleys, rivers and mountains.

Midlands is the largest industrial part.

In South England are found some of the oldest British settlements and an ancient monument Stonehenge.

The Pennines are a low-rising mountain range, often called the “backbone of England”.

England is the birthplace of the industrial revolution.

The greatest concentrations of population are in London, Birmingham and other industrial cities.

England is separated from France
by a 34-kilometre sea gap.

No part of England is more than 120 kilometres from the sea.

The sea also has a great effect on England's climate.
