

RUSSIAN PEOPLE NATIONAL TRAITS

Ability to lift and feat

◦One of the most important features of the Russian character is the "feeling of revolutionary ascent", "heroic dominant", readiness for a feat, the ability to mobilize forces at a certain moment.

Generosity, breadth and hospitality

◦Russians are distinguished by kindness, hospitality, compassion, directness in communication, do not differ in arrogance and arrogance. This makes it easy for them to find common language with other peoples. The reason for this is that the Russian state has been multi-ethnic since its Foundation to the present day.

Resistance

- Russian Russians, living in a zone of risky agriculture under the constant threat of raids from both the great Steppe and Scandinavia, could not hope that what they built or sown would not be lost for sure, so they are not typical of Western

Humility and spirituality

- The most important feature of Russians is the need for faith. This need is realized as a deep confidence in yourself, in your business, in your country, in your people, and, of course, as spirituality and religiosity.

A heightened sense of justice

- In American culture, everything that is legal is fair. In the eyes of Russians, what is just is deserved. Russian creak endure even creative dynasties — and "gave the Pope" or "bought at a collateral auction" they do not like.

Love of country

- The special character of Russian patriotism is also historically associated with the cult of power and the state. In Russian culture, the love of the Motherland is inextricably linked with the love of the native land, the natural landscape and strengthened them.
