

PUBLIC TRANSPORT

(British vs. Russia)

The main thing

- Of course public transport is important for society in this time. They are used by most of people in different countries. Now we look at them on the example of two countries: Great Britain and Russia

Russia

- In our country is the most popular transport bus. They have about 13 billion passengers per year. Trams and trolley buses has about 2 billion passengers. Trains has 1 billion.

PAZ-32054

- ▣ In Krasnoyarsk, a lot of buses PAZ brand. They are small, but can drive so fast. In PAZ you can ride like a horse.

Great Britain

- In Great Britain most popular transport was buses too. Only in London they have about 2.4 billion passengers in year. That's more than half of all bus journeys taken in England. More than 1.3 billion passenger journeys were made on the Tube(subway).

Double-decker

- Sight of London and accordingly sight of England is Double-decker. This is bus with 2 floors. This bus is very popular for tourists. Have you ever rode the bus on the second floor without a roof and look at stars? Not? I'm too :c

Comparison

- Public transport in Great Britain is not different from transport in Russia. Subways, buses, taxi, trams. They are everywhere. But it is possible to allocate one distinctive feature. Transport in GB a few comfortable than Russia. May be they have a new vehicles?

Presentation made by:
George Bykov
Vladimir Grachev