Pyramid of Cheops

Mystical place
of the planet

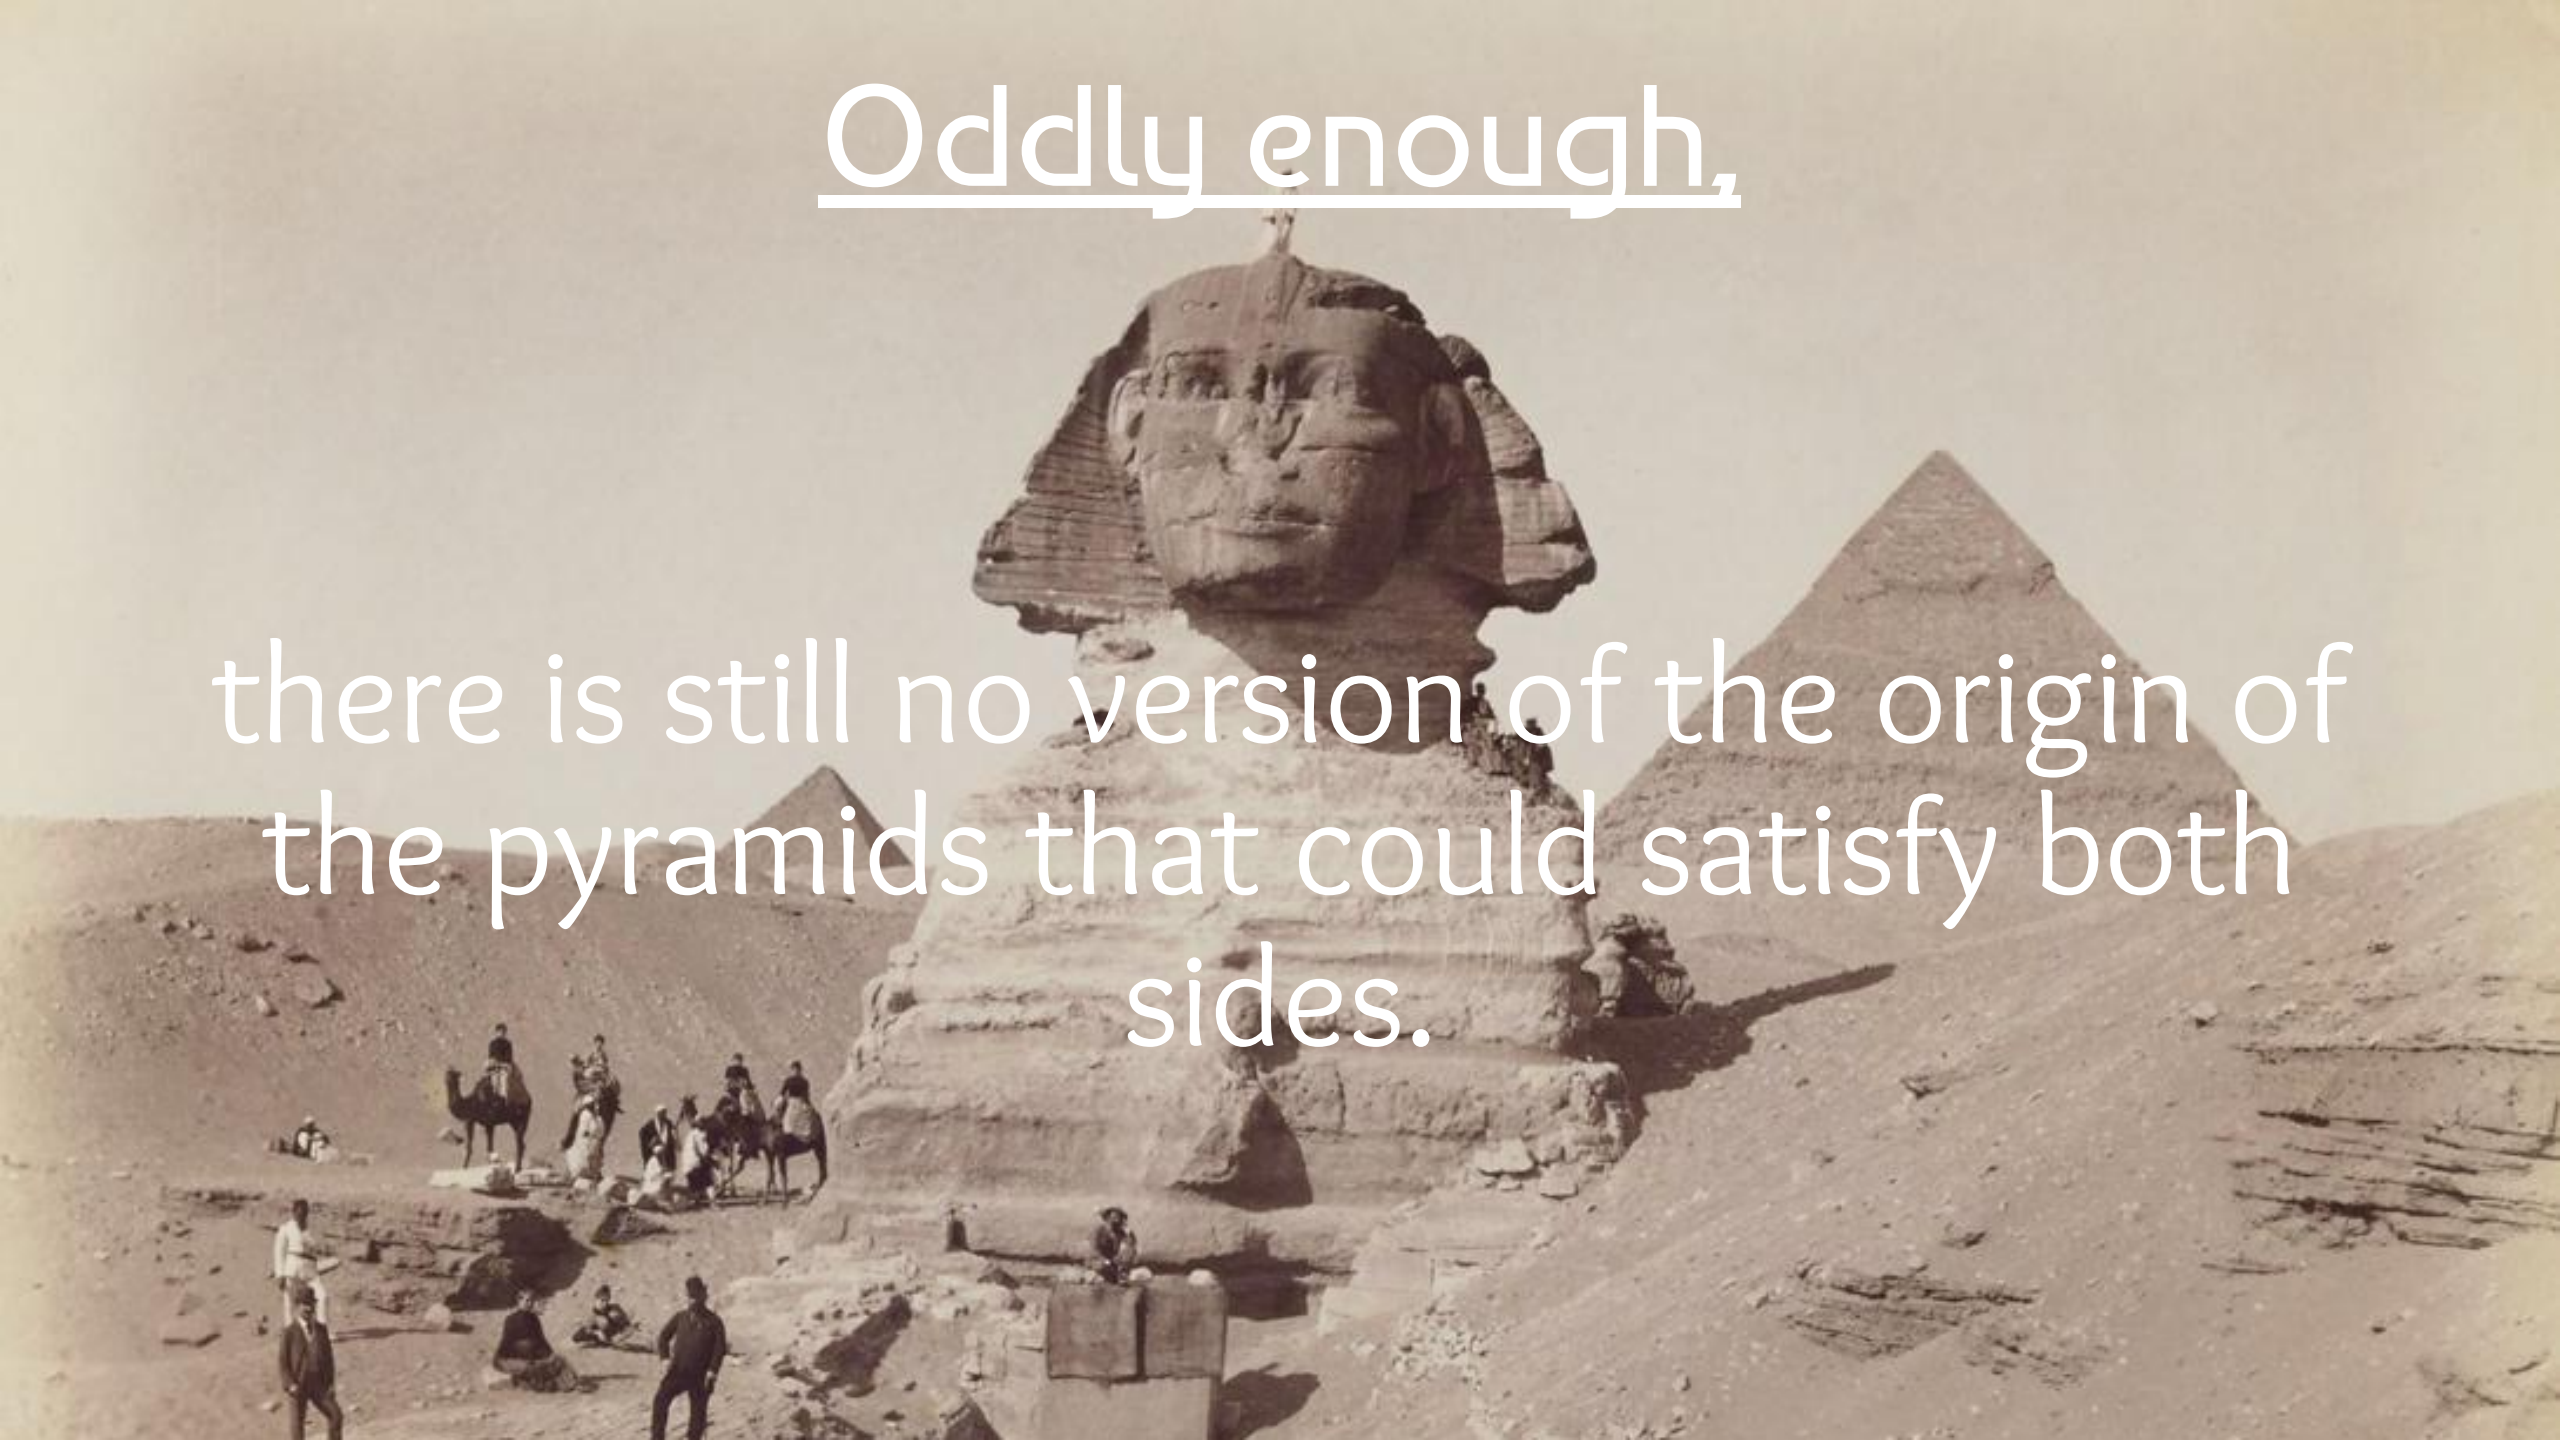

PYRAMIDS WORRY THE MINDS AND HEARTS OF
MANY PEOPLE - FROM SERIOUS SCIENTISTS WHO HAVE SPENT THEIR ENTIRE LIVES STUDYING
MYSTERIOUS BUILDINGS

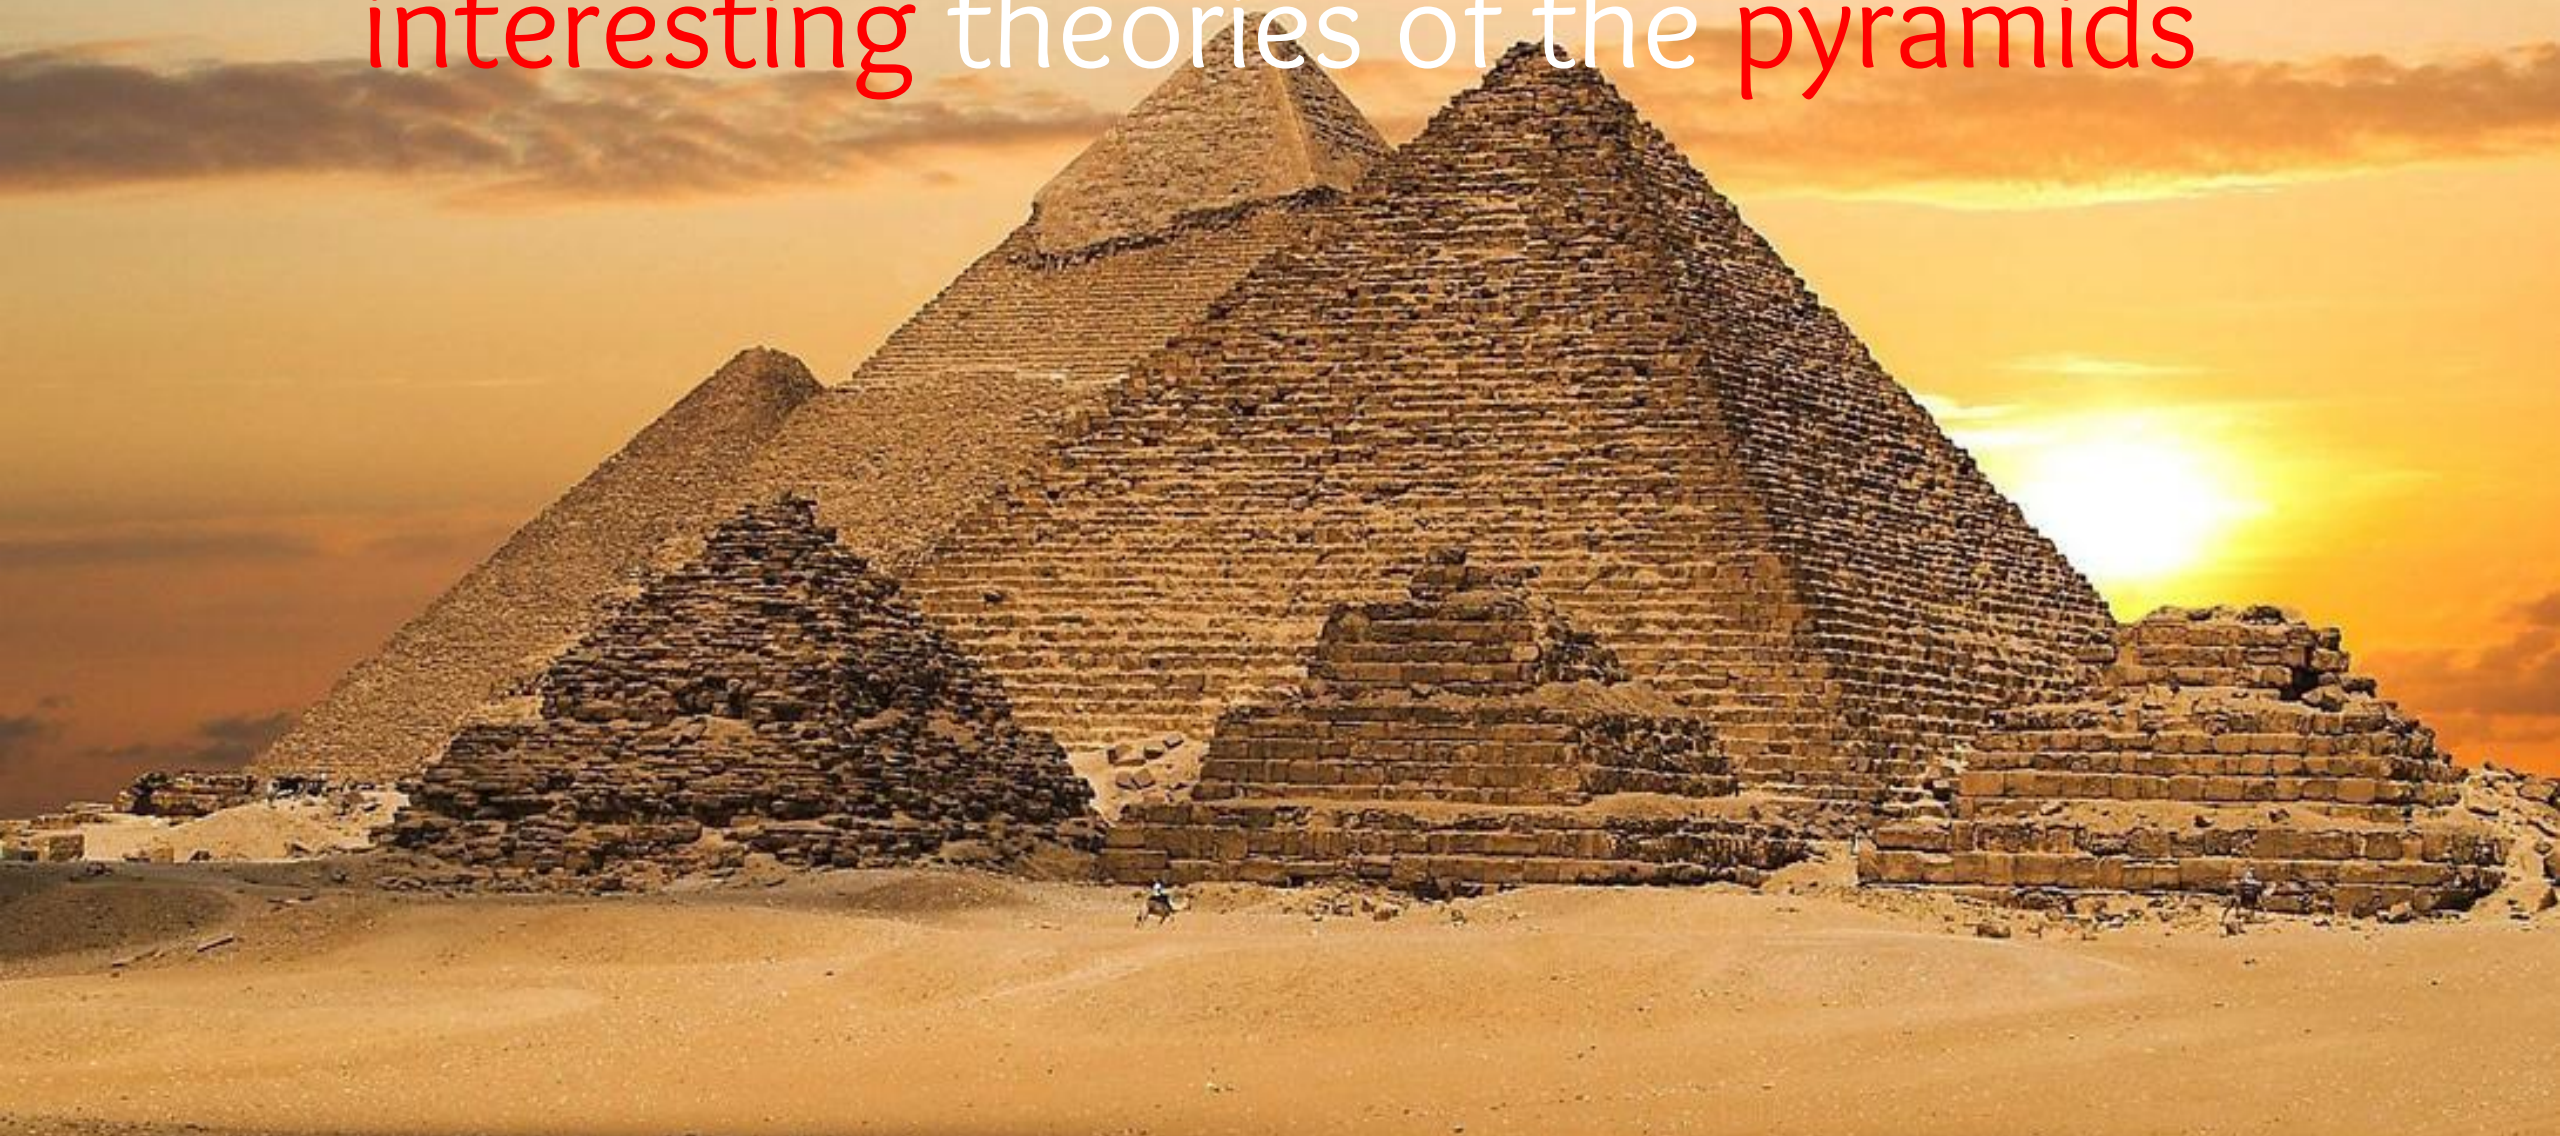

Oddly enough,

there is still no version of the origin of the pyramids that could satisfy both sides.

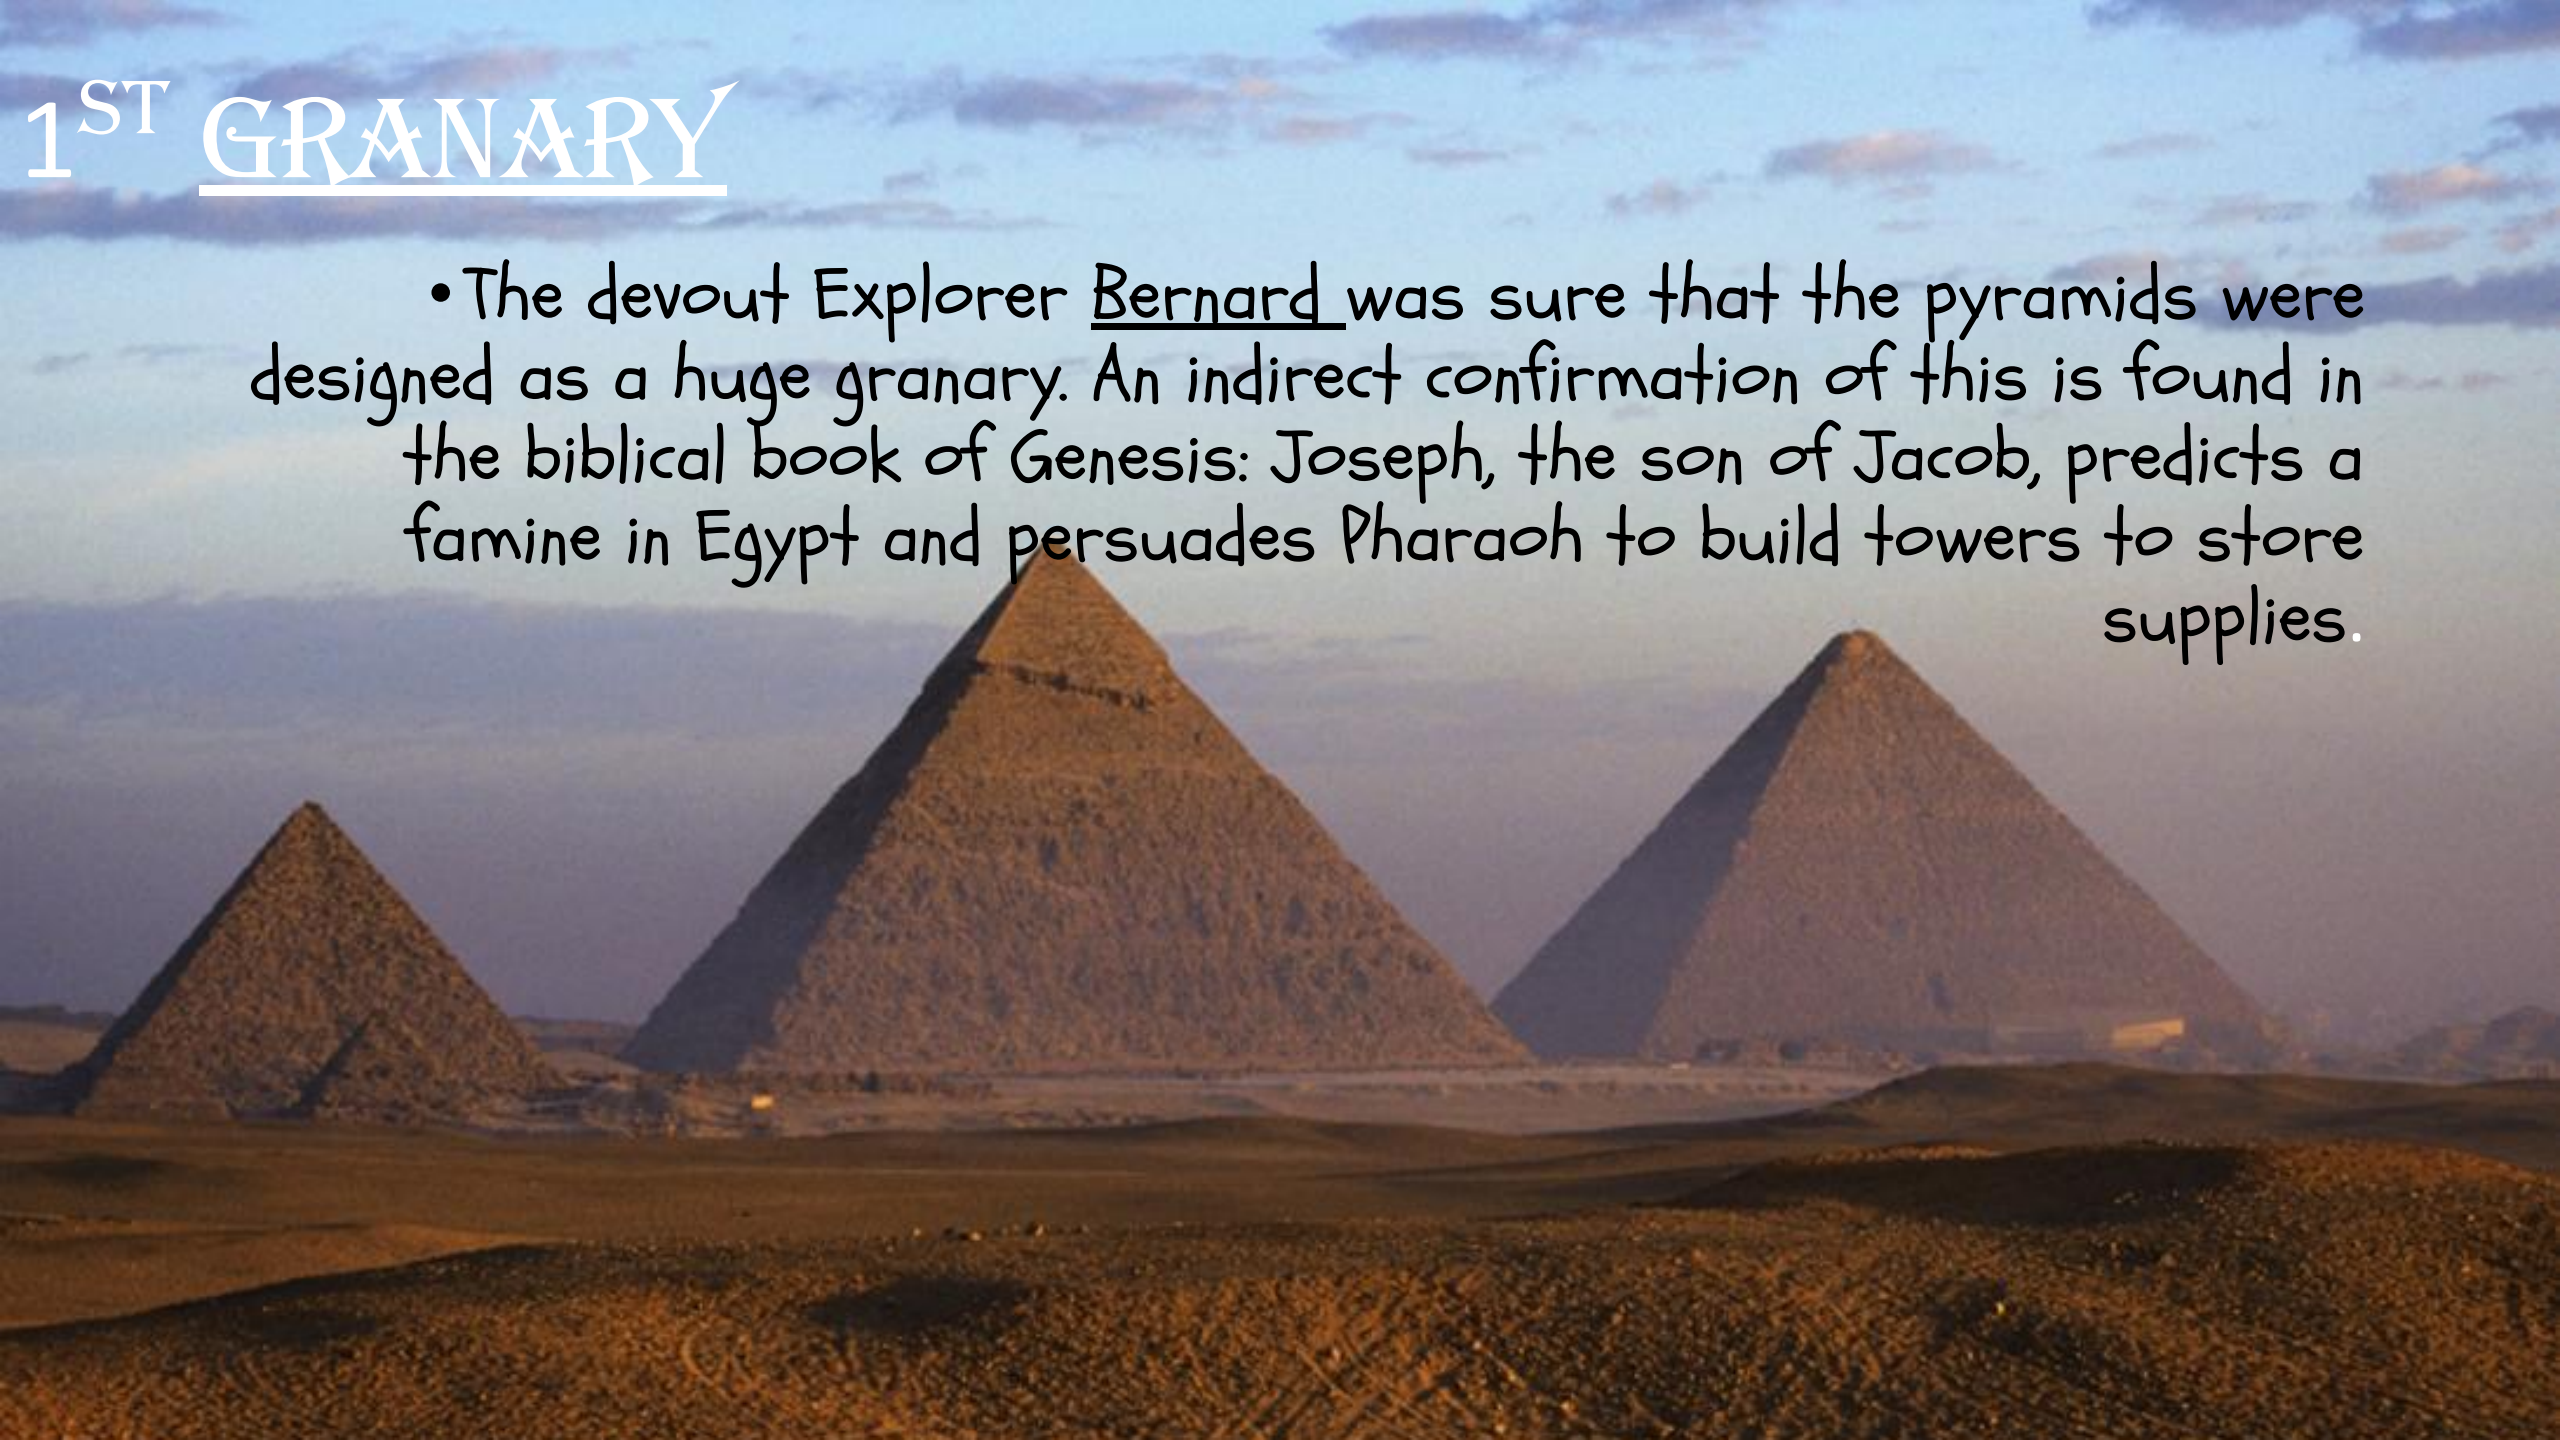

And now I will tell you about the 5 most interesting theories of the pyramids

1ST GRANARY

- The devout Explorer Bernard was sure that the pyramids were designed as a huge granary. An indirect confirmation of this is found in the biblical book of Genesis: Joseph, the son of Jacob, predicts a famine in Egypt and persuades Pharaoh to build towers to store supplies.

2st Atlantean

Herodotus described a "lost city" in which many saw Atlantis. The survivors of the Atlanta disaster allegedly migrated to Egypt. It was they who built the pyramids-as a monument to the lost continent.

3st Energy Center

ONE OF THE THEORIES ABOUT THE PYRAMIDS EXPLAINS THE MAJESTIC BUILDINGS OF THE EGYPTIANS NEED POSITIVE ENERGY. THE PYRAMID, ALLEGEDLY, CAN TURN NEGATIVE ENERGY INTO POSITIVE-SO IT IS HERE THAT THE PHAROHS HOPED TO FIND A SECOND LIFE.

4st Calendar

The pyramids could have been used as a kind of calendar. Buildings are very clearly oriented to the cardinal directions, and the number of steps coincides with the number of days in the year.

5st Navigation

The great pyramid of Egypt, according to French researchers Belizala and Chaumery, is nothing more than a giant navigation station. Scientists have decided that the mass and shape of the pyramid turns it into a powerful "vibration station". That is, with the help of a copy of the pyramid installed, for example, on a ship, travelers could accurately determine the direction in which the homeland is located.
