

Journey across China, Japan and South Korea

- Questions about culture, traditions, lifestyle
- Riddle «Find out proper food»
- Riddle «Find out the chinese, japanese, south korean peoples»
- Questions about meanings some phrases
- Riddle «Where who?»

*envy -

завидовать

- Is it true whether that some japanese names can be names of seasons?
- Is it true that the salary of women in Japan lower than men's salary?
- Does whale festival exist in Japan?
- Do shops where all goods are cost 100 yen(1 dollar) exist?
- Does emoji of Tengu mask have a meaning «to envy* someone»?
- Does emoji where girl rise and connect her hands have a meaning «the right answer»?
- Is it true whether that in Japan's folklore demon cats exist?

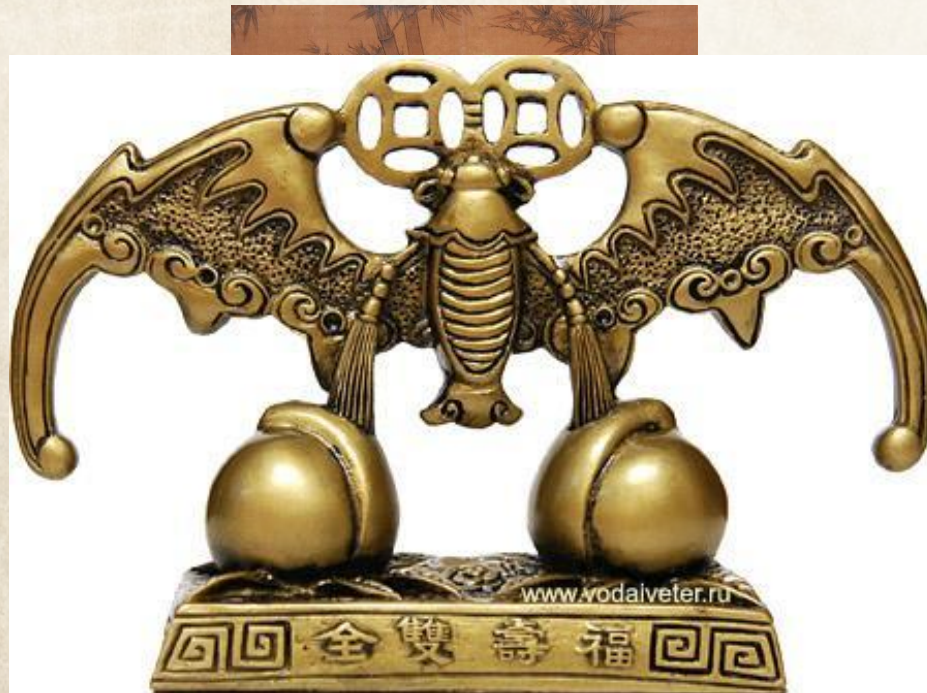

- Is it true that skipping of school lessons in China is punished by payment of 100 dollars?
- Is it truth that in China almost don't sale any milk's goods?
- In China really on 30 millions more girls than boys?
- Did the longest traffic jam in the world which was during 11 days happen in China?
- Do people in China use about 90 milliards chopsticks* every year?
- Is the beef in China the most expensive in the world?

*chopsticks –палочки для

- Does China have a law about visiting and spending time with your grandmother and grandfather?
- Is the most popular name in China Wang?
- Does China has only one time zone?
- Is crane* the symbol of success in China?
- Does China provide the world about 30 per cent of rice every year?
- In China does a singing road for cars exist?
- Are all films and movies in China with subtitles?
- Does Chinese people haven't way in Facebook, Twitter, YouTube etc.?

*crane –

- Is it truth that in South Korea child is already 1 years old when he/she is born?
- Is it truth that South Korea the most drinking country in Asia?
- Is the most popular kind of sport in South Korea table tennis?
- Do people in Seoul usually can be noticed by video cameras about 40 times during the day?
- Are all roofs of building in South Korea dyed green color?
- Is it true that many South Korean people can't swim?
- Doesn't South Korean has necessary service in army?

- Is it truth that when in South Korean schools last exams all kinds of transport don't move for the silence?
- Do South Korean people use metal chopsticks instead of wood ones?
- Is South Korea known as capital of cybersport?
- Does South Korea have sidewalks for «smartphone's zombies»?
- Is it usually in South Korea to cut food by scissors?
- Does «Orange island» exist in South Korea?

home

Riddle «Find out proper food»

Japanese dish
ラーメン - ramen

South Korean dish
김치 - kimchi

Chinese dish
餃子(jiaozi) - dumplings

Chinese dish
肉夹馍 - roujiamo

Japanese dish
鍋物 (nabemono) – nabe

South Korean dessert
강정 – gangjeong

Japanese dish
たこ焼き – takoyaki

South Korean dish
떡볶이 – tteokbokki

Chinese dish
皮蛋 – century egg

Chinese dessert
發糰 – fa gao

Japanese dessert
団子 – dango

Riddle «Find out the chinese, japanese, south korean peoples»

South Korean person

Japanese person

South Korean person

Chinese person

Chinese person

Japanese person

Japanese person

South Korean person

Chinese person

Japanese person

Chinese person

Chinese person

Japanese person

Chinese person

South Korean person

home

Questions about meanings some phrases

- In South Korea instead of «How are you?» people ask «How did you eat?»
- In Chinese language there isn't phrase «Good night»
- In Japan «My stomach steps back» means «I'm full»
- In China «Beef fruit» means avocado
- In South Korea the sitting pose of cat is called «A cat bakes a bread»
- In China «shu-shu-shu» is used for calling a cat
- In Japan «Good head» means «clever»
- In South Korea «You have thin ears» means «You're trusting»
- In Japan the good place of work is called «White company» and the bad place of work is called «Black company»
- In China «I fry shoes» means «I'm fired»
- In Japan «My mouth is upset» means «I want to chew* something but I'm not hungry»
- In South Korea «Person with dyed in white hands» means «Handyman»

home

*chew - жевать

handyman – мастер на все

Where who?

Japanese sign

South Korean sign

Chinese sign

Japanese sign

Chinese sign

South Korean sign

Chinese sign

South Korean sign

Japanese sign

Chinese sign

Japanese sign

South Korean sign

Chinese sign

South Korean sign

Japanese sign

South Korean sign

Japanese sign

Chinese sign

South Korean sign

Chinese sign

Japanese sign