- Franklin D. Roosevelt , commonly known as FDR, was born in Hyde Park.
- FDR served as President from March 1933 to April 1945, the longest tenure in American history and was the only president to be elected four times.
- Roosevelt led the United States through the Great Depression and Second World War.

A stylized, high-contrast American flag is visible in the background. The stars are white on a dark blue field, and the stripes are red and white, though the white stripes are less distinct against the dark background. The flag is oriented horizontally and appears to be slightly tilted or distorted.

On December 8, 1941, the day after Japan bombed the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt appeared before a joint session of Congress, which declared war on Japan. The first president to leave the country during wartime, Roosevelt spearheaded the alliance between countries combating the Axis, meeting frequently with Churchill and seeking to establish friendly relations with the Soviet Union and its leader, Joseph Stalin.

“The only thing
we have to fear
is fear itself.”

“If you treat
people right
they will treat
you right...
ninety percent
of the time.”

– Franklin D. Roosevelt
