State System of Ukraine

The independence of Ukraine was proclaimed on the 24th of August, 1991. Ukraine has its own state symbols, Constitution, currency and government. The power in the country is divided into legislative, executive and judiciary.

The main legislative body of Ukraine is the Verkhovna Rada, which consists of 450 deputies. The head of the state is the president. The highest executive body is the Cabinet of Ministers, which is headed by the Prime Minister.

The judiciary power belongs to the Supreme Court and regional courts. The state symbols of Ukraine are the national flag and emblem.

Geographical Position of Ukraine

The territory of Ukraine is 603 700 km². There are Carpathian Mountains in the west and the Crimean Mountains in the south, but they are not high. The main rivers are the Dnieper, the Dniester, the Buh, the Donets and others.

Due to favourable climatic conditions, Ukraine is traditionally an agricultural country. The country is rich in natural resources, such as iron ore, coal, oil, gas.
