

AT THE FILM STUDIO

A wide-angle shot of a film studio theater. The foreground is filled with rows of plush, red upholstered seats, viewed from behind. The seats are arranged in a semi-circular pattern, leading towards a raised wooden stage. At the far end of the stage is a large, bright white rectangular screen. The screen displays the text "AT THE FILM STUDIO" in a bold, black, sans-serif font, centered and split across two lines. The theater walls are dark, and the lighting is focused on the stage and screen, with some ambient light from the seats and stage.

The dog in the film is the pet of a family who live in the country. In the story, the dog rescues the children from the burning house by climbing up a ladder. In another scene, the dog sees a boy on an island in the river. The boy is shouting for help. The dog jumps over a wall and runs to the village. It goes to the police station and opens the door with its nose. Then it leads the policeman back to the river.
