

In Harmony with Nature

Iskendarova Nargila 10A

The image features a white background with several green fern fronds scattered across it. The fronds are painted in a watercolor style, with varying shades of green and soft, feathered edges. They are positioned around a central white rectangular box with a thin purple border. Inside this box, there is a block of text in a black, sans-serif font.

There is a huge connection between nature and man.
Nature provides man with everything necessary,
creating all the conditions for his life.

Thanks to nature, we have many wonders of the world.

Mendenhall Glacier

Niagara Falls

Waitomo Caves

Cenote Ik Kil

Lake Baikal

Nature is also interesting for its flora and fauna.

In the process of technology development, people began to pollute the environment and spoil the ecology of the planet.

The main problems are:

- Killing rare animals
- Forest cutting
- Water pollution
- Large amount of garbage
- Air pollution by machines and factories.

If we want to be in harmony with nature, people need to:

- Create a new and strict laws for the protection of nature
- Recycle garbage
- Create events to clean up the area
- Support environmental funds

It is very important to appreciate nature and try to live with it in harmony, without disturbing the balance.
