

Travel

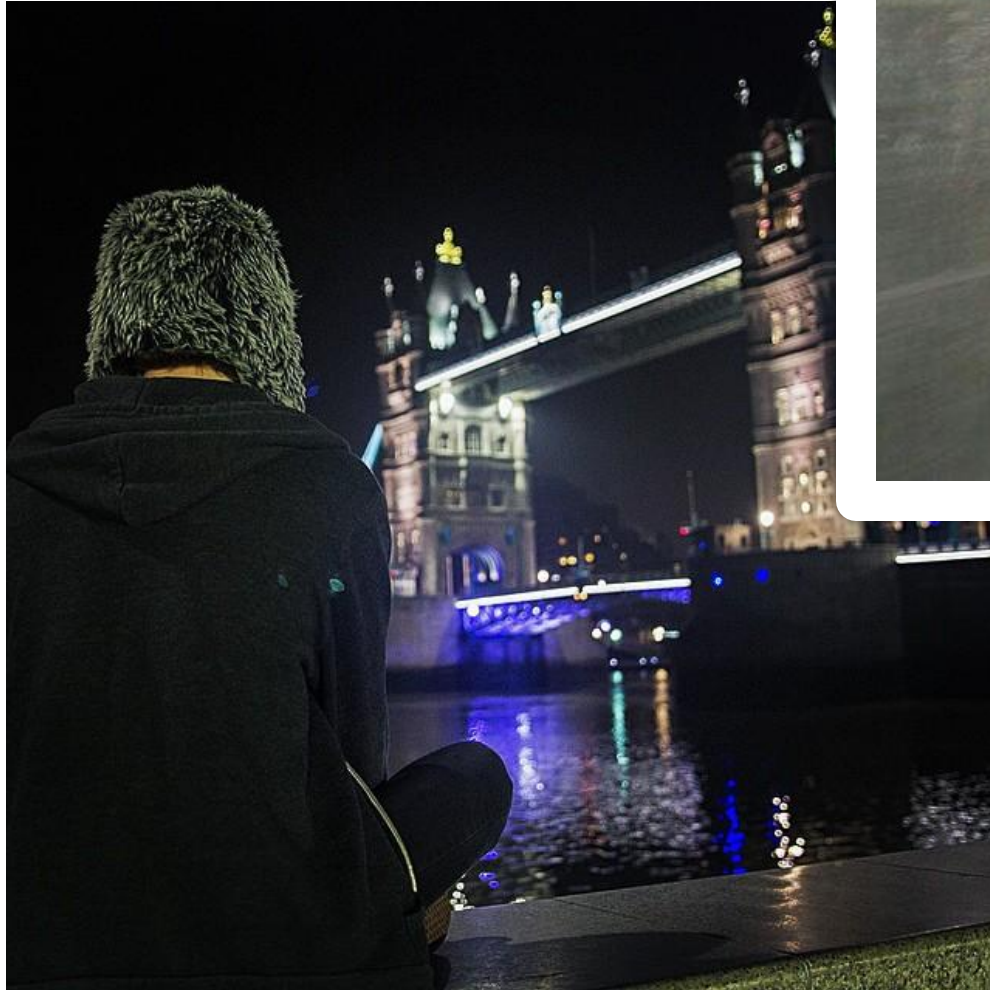

I spend a lot of time watching vlogs. This video is in which people travel and talk about this places.

I think this very interesting and someday I shall be able in the same way.

Probably the reason I want to go on a trip is a chance to forget about my life,

anywhere, somewhere, far away about who I am, to afford the time to get lost in a strange place

As a means of transportation I want to try everything. from the aircraft to the camels. I like the process of travel. At this time I can just enjoy nature / read / listen to music / relaxation/ eat some snacks

Firstly, I guess, I would like to visit a USA and UK, just since this close to me as almost all fandom- industry it from there

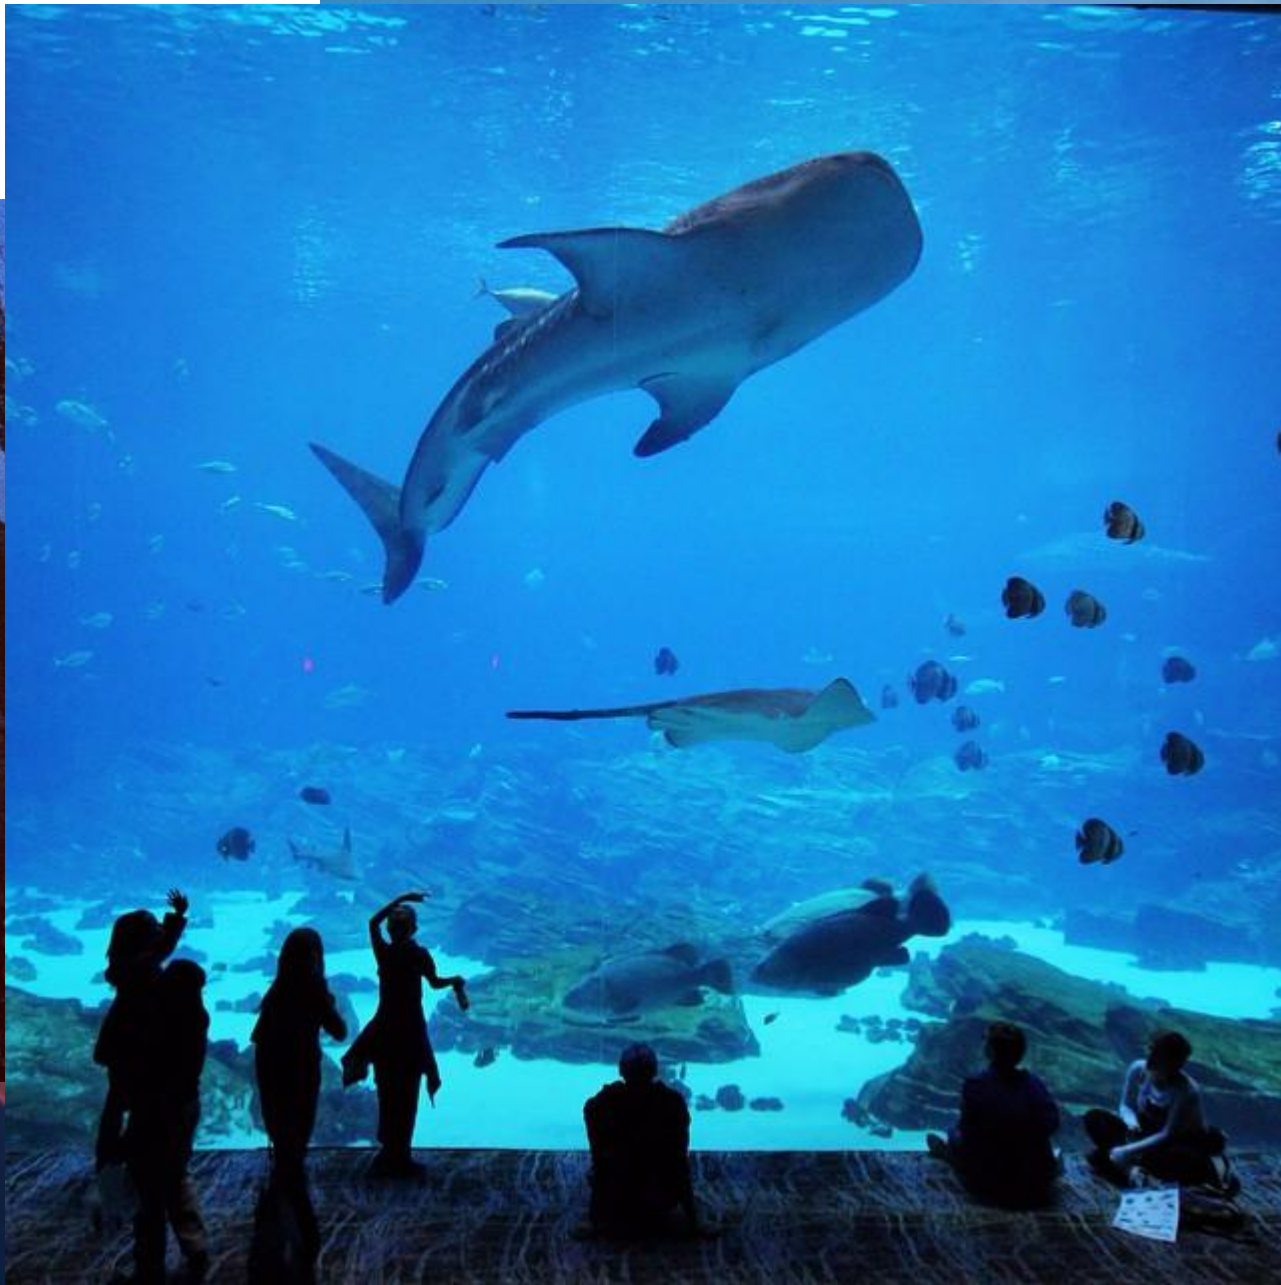

Most of all I want to visit the place in Los Angeles, where they filmed my favorite TV series. This house is called the Murder House

I want to visit many different places in another of such a

Eventually, I can just walk around the city at night, it is especially beautiful at night and it does not worth the money.

If I get tired I can use long board or bicycle

But I do not think that is easy. During the trip, get into trouble. In last year, I has read a book "On the road", there is a main character travelled hitchhiking and has got much problems kinda go on foot under rain, ended money, no place for spending the night.

Also, I think if in real life I was given the chance to go on a trip, I would have refused, because for me it's a foreign country, in the middle of a city, not knowing the language well enough. I have claustrophobia. For me to be in a small space is a nightmare.

Therefore, most likely I would be worth a try, because I young and should do everything not to regret the past life in old age

I would like to travel alone and self explore a new place

Also traveling there are disadvantages. For example, many people do not travel because they can not, it is quite expensive entertainment.

Some just do not have time

Some are afraid to leave home, even for some time

In conclusion, I should say: so many people so many opinions, and it is up to you to decide whether you travel, alone or with company and where.
