

HALLOWEEN

A collection of pumpkins and gourds, including a carved jack-o-lantern with glowing eyes and a mouth, set against a dark background. The jack-o-lantern is the central focus, with its carved features illuminated from within. Surrounding it are various other pumpkins and gourds, some whole and some cut open, showing their internal seeds and pulp. The background is dark, making the pumpkins stand out.

On October's last night
It's very dark and dreary.
As you know at midnight
There is a ball for devilry.

With no sun and no lights
And only jack-o-lanterns,
One can watch a creatures'
flights:

Devils, witches, goblins.

Observed by United Kingdom, United States, Ireland, Canada, sometimes Australia and New Zealand and many Latin American countries.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN!

The term Halloween (and its alternative rendering Hallowe'en) is shortened from All-hallow-even, as it is the eve of "All Hallows' Day", which is now also known as All Saints' Day.

There are several games traditionally associated with Halloween parties. The most common is dooking or bobbing for apples, in which apples float in a tub or a large basin of water; the participants must use their teeth to remove an apple from the basin.
