School № 25, Perm, Russia

The week from April, 20 till April, 26 was the English Language week in our school.

Due to self-isolation I decided to organize an online activity, devoted to the topic “The world came to our house today”.

It took place in the official school group on VK.

#The world came to our house today

Let's find interesting things made in different countries of the world that you keep at home!

1) During the online lessons on Zoom our students told me about different things from different countries, which they keep at their homes. They answered questions or tried to guess an object.

There were some taboo objects: clothes, shoes, toys, gadgets and home appliances.

2) Also all the students of the group tried to remember everything they knew about the countries.

3) Then students took part in the online photo-marathon on VK, which was supposed to post a picture of a chosen thing and write a short story about it with the hashtag “Theworldcametoourhousetoday”.

They had to answer 4 questions:

- What is it?
- What country is it from?
- When did you get it?
- What is it made of?

The aim was to involve as many students of our school as possible. That is why I gave the example how to do it.

Участвую в фотомарафоне, где делимся фото памятных вещей из разных стран мира #Theworldcametoourhousetoday: Many of you have seen my classroom keys. And many of you have asked me about this carabiner. Well, now I'll open the secret:) It was a present from a sheriff from the town of Olathe. I got it during my trip to the USA in 2014.

These are two double-deckers which are always red and recognisable. They are from England and are very popular there. I got them from my friends who visited London. The buses are made of metal and look very similar to the real ones.

This is Thor's hammer. This toy was presented to me by a friend. He loves to travel and bought a hammer in America 🇺🇸

I'd like to tell you about trolls. They are from Norway. These trolls are not toys and they should not be played with. Legend says that a troll in one's home will bring good luck and fortune. My grandparents visited Norway and brought these trolls.

Result:

More than 80 students of different grades and 16 teachers of different subjects from our school took part in our online-challenge. Some of them presented more than 1 object.

You can see their pictures and stories there:

Result:

We put 54 flags onto the map, that means that these 54 countries were mentioned in the stories about memorable things.
