

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

The man told me to move my car.
The man was very impatient.

The man who told me to move my car was very impatient.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

She wrote to her friend. Her friend had moved to Australia.

She wrote to her friend, who had moved to Australia.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

My parents live in a very large house in the countryside.
They are retired.

My parents, who are retired, live in a very large house in the countryside.

My parents live in a very large house in the countryside, where

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

The wind blew away the leaves that we _____ (collect, +)

had collected

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

After dinner, the cat _____ (go, +) to sleep.

went

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

During the Renaissance Era, many artists _____ (create, +) famous works.

created

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

By Saturday, most of the students still _____ (finish, -) their project.

hadn't finished

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

Los Angeles is a very expensive place to live. Many famous people have made their home.

Los Angeles, where many famous people have made their home, is a very expensive place to live.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

Anthony's daughter is sick. He can't come to the park because he has to take care of her.

Anthony, whose daughter is sick, can't come to the park because he has to take care of her.

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

By Saturday, most of the students still hadn't finished their project, so the professor _____ (decide, +) to give them extra time.

decided

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

When he came home from work, the children told their dad what they _____ (do, +) that day.

had done

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

Police are still looking for the suspect. She was caught stealing from an electronics shop.

Police are still looking for the suspect, who was caught stealing from an electronics shop.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

A dictionary is a book. It gives you the meanings of words.

A dictionary is a book which gives you the meanings of words.

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

When he found out that she _____ (lose, -) his money after all, he was very glad.

Hadn't lost

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

He _____ (be, +) sorry for what he _____ (do, +)

Was
Had done

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

We stopped to help some people.
Their car had broken down.

We stopped to help some people whose car had broken down.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

Last week I went to visit a town. I was born in this town.

Last week I went to visit the town where I was born.

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

All the children _____ (show, +) me what they _____ (draw, +) showed had drawn

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

After they broke up,
she _____ (throw, -) away all the letters they _____ (write, +)

Didn't throw had written

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

A waitress served us. She was very friendly and agreeable.

A waitress, who was very friendly and agreeable, served us.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

There are some people I don't like.
They always cheat at games.

I don't like people who cheat at games.

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

By 2 PM, the baker _____ (sell, +) all the bread he _____ (make, +) in the morning.

had sold
had made

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

They immediately called a lawyer.
The lawyer worked nearby.

They immediately called a lawyer who worked nearby.

Combine and create a sentence using a relative pronoun (which, whose, where, who) using the following sentences.

The table had been broken recently. The table was my grandmother's.

The table, which was my grandmother's, had been broken recently.

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

Before today, the kid from California _____ (see, -) snow.

Hadn't seen

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

My friend _____ (bring, +) a birthday present after school.

brought

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

Even after he _____ (own, +) his car for three years, Thomas still _____ (know, -) how to change the tires.

Had owned
didn't know

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

I knew that Anna _____ (see, -) the note that I left for her because she still _____ (clean, -) her room by the time that Mom got home.

Hadn't seen
hadn't cleaned

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

He was the only one

_____ (remember, _____ past perfect)
to bring his bag.

Who; had remembered

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

You should go to the restaurant

_____

_____ (have, past simple)
the spicy meat.

Which; had

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

What did you do with the money

I _____ _____
I _____ (give, past simple) you yesterday?

which

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

She's the girl _____ bike _____ (break, present perfect).

Whose; has broken

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

John, _____ score is higher than everyone else's, _____ (win, past simple) the prize.

Whose; won

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

The patio was the only place
_____ the teachers _____ (allow, past simple) shouting.

where; allowed

Choose the correct relative pronoun:
which, where, whose, who

This is the room _____ the famous singer _____ (sleep, past simple).

where; slept

Complete the sentence with either the
past perfect, or the past simple.

I thought that they _____ (want, +) to watch a film that they _____ (see, -) before.

wanted
hadn't seen