Let`s have a rest

• How do the British spend their free time?

• Some English people prefer photography. A lot of people like taking off old buildings: palaces, castles, churches and old houses of historical interest.

- Gardening is one of the most popular hobbies, especially among older people. Gardening and cultivation of flowers, especially roses, is the most common hobby in England.
- Television is the main leisure activity. Nearly every household in Britain has a television set, and most have video records too. People spend much time watching television.
- The most popular forms of active leisure in Britain include walking, swimming, keeping fit and cycling. Football is the national sport in Britain. Rugby football, which is played with an oval ball, is also popular in Britain. Cricket is also associated with England.
- Listening to music is also a popular pastime. Pop music is the most popular form of musical expression in Britain.
- Other popular leisure activities include visits to the theatre or cinema. Britain has about 300 theatres, of which about 100 are in London. There are over 1,800 cinema screens in Britain.

• Traditional Russian pastimes

- In summer city people like to stay at a dacha, or country house. Children swim and play at the dacha, while adults fish, swim, work in the garden, walk in the woods.
- In autumn there are a lot of mushrooms in the woods and fields. Armed with baskets and buckets, people go to the countryside for the varieties of mushrooms.
- Outdoor ice-skating has long been a national pastime in Russia for people of all ages. In winter frozen ponds or artificial rinks attract crowds of skaters. Fishing is one of the most popular pastimes of the Russian people. Hunting was traditionally one of the most popular hobbies in Russia. For Russians there is nothing healthier and better than native Russian food. Russians are very fond of drinking strong black tea at any time of the day. Now the samovars are run by electricity. A popular tradition in the Russian culture is the bathhouse or banya.
- It involves steam, high heat, cold, and an invigorating beating with birch leaves and branches.
