

Similarities and differences between me and my brother

let's start with the differences

My brother is very bossy and sometimes selfish. I would say that he is looks like father and they have same character. He likes everybody do everything he wants. I can't say the same about myself. I am more loyal to him and try to hear the wishes of each person and come to a common agreement. He is more taller than me and likes to eat asian food. I'm not so tall and don't like asian food to munch. Also, everybody says that I'm look like ny mum and as kind as she.

And so what is our similarity

We are both very kind and love ice cream. We can play the piano and ukulele. Many people say that we are somewhat similar in appearance. I would say that we look like our grandparents. We love animals and take care of each other. We also have the same musical taste and we like the same performers. To think the same and understand each other from the half of the word is our talent, since we know each other like our own fingers.

In conclusion, I want to say that it does not matter what our similarities and differences are. Despite all this, we love each other and are still look alike.
