Who is Talat Kyrysh?

- Talat Kyrysh is a famous Turkish doctor, professor of the Medical Faculty of Istanbul, who has become widely known around the world thanks to his work and many years of work in the neurosurgical field.

Biography and the way to medicine

- Talat was born on July 23, 1961 in one of the largest and oldest cities in Turkey, in its industrial and cultural center - the city of Istanbul. Even as a teenager, he became seriously interested in medical topics, so when the time came, he confidently passed the entrance exams, and successfully entered the medical faculty at Istanbul University – the country's leading educational institution with many different faculties, one of the oldest and with the largest library in all of Turkey.

Life in medicine

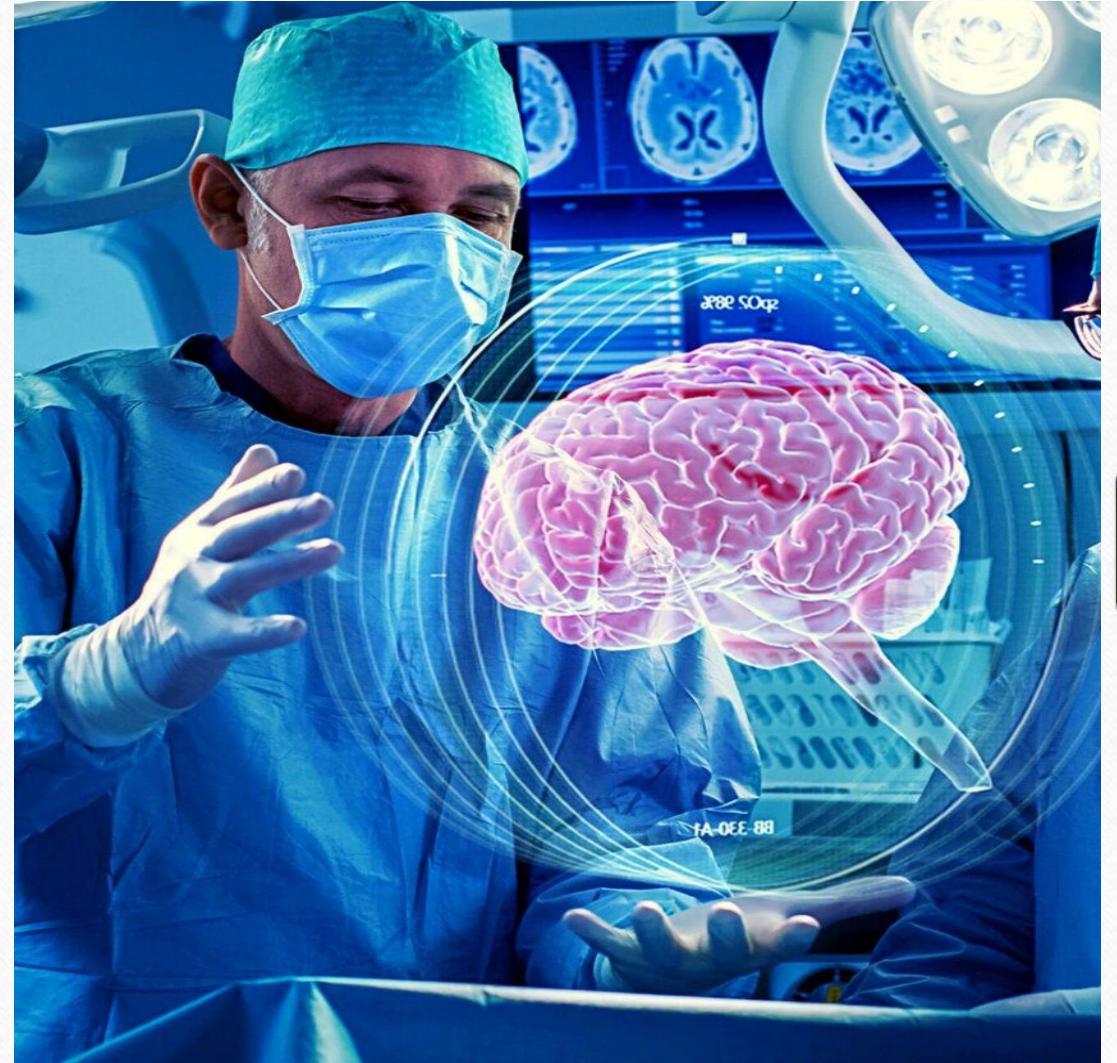

- Talat Kyrsh received the long-awaited title of "doctor" in 1986. After that, he begins his medical practice already as a doctor of the Konya State Hospital in the emergency department.
- Soon Talat begins to show a strong interest in neurosurgery, studying and working in this direction, he shows great success and interests his British colleagues. In 1991, he received an invitation to work in England.

- The following year, he served in the Sarykamysh military hospital, and then continued his medical work at the Hospital of First aid and Road Accidents in Istanbul.
- But Talat does not stay in Kartal for a long time and already in 1994 he was transferred to the largest department of neurosurgery in Turkey to the Bakarkey Psychiatric Hospital, where he constantly successfully practices and conducts numerous successful operations.

- Another important event in the biography of this remarkable doctor is the fact that from April 17 to 25, 2015, the twenty-ninth annual scientific congress was held in Antalya, the Secretary General and organizer of which was Talat Kyrysh.

- Today he is already 60 years old, but he is still working in the field of medicine, studying various areas of neurosurgery, and successfully performs operations in the largest Turkish clinics. And his lectures and scientific conferences organized by him bring together specialists and students of the best educational institutions around the world.

The result of all Talat's complex work throughout his life are 93 different scientific publications on the topic of neurosurgery, traumatology, surgery, psychiatry and neurology. And today he has the status of a well-known international lecturer with vast experience.
