

EMERGENCY SERVICES

Types of Emergency Services

- Fire Department
- Police
- Ambulance
- Coast Guard
- Mountain Rescue
- Cave Rescue

● Open your books p.108, let's do ex 1

- Ex.3 p.108 read and translate phrases
- Listen and read the dialogue, write down unknown words in your dictionaries (Аудио в присоединенном файле)

- Ex.5,6 p.109 do in your copybooks, then write ex9 p.109

Grammar: Word Formation

Emergency services and rescue services are agencies which ensure public safety and health by addressing different emergencies. Some of these agencies exist only for addressing certain types of emergencies whilst others deal with all emergencies as part of their normal responsibilities. Many of these agencies engage in community awareness and education programs to help the public avoid, detect, and report emergencies effectively.

There are three primary emergency services that can be summoned directly by the public:

Police — law enforcement, investigation, and maintenance of public order.

Fire — firefighting, hazardous materials response, and technical rescue.

EMS — emergency medical services and technical rescue

Effective emergency service coordination requires agencies from many different services to work closely together and to have open lines of communication. Most services do, or should, have procedures and liaisons in place to ensure this, although absence of these can be severely harmful to good working. There can sometimes be tension between services for a number of other reasons, including professional versus voluntary crew members, or simply based on area or division. To aid effective communications, services may share common practices and protocol for certain large-scale emergencies.

ORGANIZE

PREVENT

DIRECT

CRIME

MANAGE

HARM

DIFFER

Grammar: Word Formation

Emergency services and rescue services are organizations which ensure public safety and health by addressing different emergencies. Some of these agencies exist only for addressing certain types of emergencies whilst others deal with all emergencies as part of their normal responsibilities. Many of these agencies engage in community awareness and prevention programs to help the public avoid, detect, and report emergencies effectively.

There are three primary emergency services that can be summoned directly by the public:

Police — law enforcement, criminal investigation, and maintenance of public order.

Fire — firefighting, hazardous materials response, and technical rescue.

EMS — emergency medical services and technical rescue

Effective emergency service management requires agencies from many different services to work closely together and to have open lines of communication. Most services do, or should, have procedures and liaisons in place to ensure this, although absence of these can be severely harmful to good working. There can sometimes be tension between services for a number of other reasons, including professional versus voluntary crew members, or simply based on area or division. To aid effective communications, different services may share common practices and protocol for certain large-scale emergencies.

ORGANIZE

PREVENT

DIRECT

CRIME

MANAGE

HARM

DIFFER

● H/t ex 1,2,3 p65(WB)